CHRISTIAN TIPTON APPOINTED BOMILL PRODUCT MANAGER IN THE US

BoMill, in collaboration with US partner Bratney, with its headquarter in Des Moines, IA, is pleased to announce the appointment of Christian Tipton as BoMill Product Manager for the United States. In this newly established role, Christian will lead the commercial development of BoMill InSight™ in the US.

"We are excited to welcome Christian to the team. His appointment marks an important step in further strengthening our partnership with Bratney and expanding our presence in the US", says Andreas Jeppsson, CEO of BoMill.

Christian joins BoMill with a solid background in the seed and grain industry. Most recently, he served as General Manager at Polansky Seed Inc., a Kansas-based seed company, where he held operations and management positions. He holds a degree in Mechanical Engineering from Kansas State University – Salina.

"I am thrilled to join the Bratney and BoMill teams. BoMill InSight is a game-changing technology that helps US grain processors improve both efficiency and profitability. I look forward to driving its commercial growth in the US market.", stated Christian Tipton, BoMill Product Manager.

"At Bratney, we're committed to delivering innovative technologies that create real value for our customers. BoMill InSight has the potential to transform how the US grain industry approaches quality sorting. Christian's appointment strengthens our joint efforts and will be instrumental to drive the commercial success of this innovative technology in the US", stated Peter Bratney, CEO of Bratney.
